

Fundamentals of Laparoscopic Surgery FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is FLS?

The FLS program is a comprehensive, web-based educational module and assessment tool designed to teach the fundamental knowledge, judgment and technical skills required in basic laparoscopic general surgery. The learning and application of these fundamentals will help ensure a minimum standard of care for all patients undergoing laparoscopic surgery. FLS consists of cognitive learning, hands-on skills training and a proctored exam that gives surgeons and surgeons-in-training the opportunity to assess and document their skills.

What can I purchase from FLS?

FLS packages are specifically structured to meet the purchaser's needs. An individual may purchase an FLS Individual package (online study guide and test voucher) and a laparoscopic trainer box (purchase optional). An institution may purchase an education package including multiple test vouchers and, with Package B, a laparoscopic trainer box.

What is the FLS Trainer Box?

The Laparoscopic Trainer Box is a device for surgical residents and practicing surgeons to develop psychomotor skills and dexterity required during the performance of basic laparoscopic surgery. The device is a portable unit that includes a set of accessories used to simulate specific surgical techniques.

Do I have to buy the FLS Trainer Box?

No, a different trainer box or simulator may be used to practice the FLS tasks. However, because the FLS Exam is a standardized, high-stakes exam, you must take the FLS manual skills test on the FLS Trainer Box.

What do I learn from the FLS curriculum?

FLS includes a multimedia presentation of didactic content with interactive patient scenarios and a presentation of "watch & do" exercises that focuses on manual skills training. The content is available in a web-based format accessed online.

What is a testing voucher?

A testing voucher is the "admittance ticket" needed in order to take the FLS exam. Each voucher has a unique identification number and can be redeemed one time only. Test vouchers are included with the purchase of FLS individual package or with any educational package. Additional vouchers may be purchased. All test vouchers have an expiration date printed on the upper right hand corner, and tests must be completed by this date.

If the FLS test is not successfully completed, a "re-test" voucher may be purchased at a lesser price.

What is the FLS Exam?

The exam includes two assessments: a computer-based multiple-choice cognitive assessment and a performance-based manual skills assessment consisting of five skills performed on the FLS Trainer Box. Those who successfully complete both the educational and assessment components will have demonstrated the knowledge, judgment and technical skills fundamental to the performance of basic laparoscopic surgery.

What is covered in the FLS manual skills exam?

The manual skill assessment consists of the five simulation exercises reflecting skills uniquely required in laparoscopic surgery such as ambidexterity, depth perception, hand-eye coordination and controlled movement of instruments, and efficiency of movement. The task performance is scored on both efficiency (time) and precision.

What is the cognitive assessment?

The cognitive assessment consists of multiple-choice questions, some of which include visuals and clinical scenarios. It is computer-based and designed to test the understanding and application of the basic fundamentals of laparoscopy with as much emphasis as possible on clinical judgment or intra-operative decision-making.

Who is eligible to take the FLS Exam?

Anyone is eligible to review the curriculum, but FLS certification is limited to medical residents, fellows, and practicing general surgeons, gynecologists, urologists, and surgical oncologists and other physicians.

I'm a practicing surgeon, why would I need the FLS Program?

Many surgeons who were already in practice during the advent of the laparoscopic revolution learned basic information and skills that were still a work in progress. FLS will help to refresh those cognitive and technical skills and provides you with a way to document those skills.

How much time will it take to complete the FLS Exam?

You will have 90 minutes to complete the multiple-choice cognitive assessment. The manual skills assessment includes the five designated skills administered on the FLS Trainer Box and lasts approximately 30-45 minutes. Both are administered by a trained FLS proctor.

Can I receive CME credits?

The Society of American Gastrointestinal and Endoscopic Surgeons (SAGES) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians. FLS 2.0 is accredited for a maximum of 12 *AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)*TM, which are also designated as self-assessment CME credit, applicable to Part 2 of the American Board of Surgery (ABS) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) requirements. CME credit will be awarded to those who successfully complete the FLS exam beginning September 1, 2011.

Where can I take the FLS exam?

You can take the exam at the Annual SAGES Meeting and during the ACS Clinical Congress or at a FLS Regional Test Center. Visit www.flsprogram.org to see a list of U.S. and Canada FLS Test Centers. For groups of four or more within the U.S. and Canada, onsite testing may be purchased or, for surgical residency programs in the U.S. and Canada, may be provided under the Covidien Educational Fund.

When will I receive my FLS exam scores?

Typically, score reports will be mailed approximately three weeks after the testing date. For privacy reasons, scores will not be transmitted by telephone or facsimile. Those who successfully complete both the educational and assessment components will also receive a certification of completion confirming that they have demonstrated the knowledge, judgment and technical skills fundamental to the performance of basic laparoscopic surgery.

Can I take the FLS exam again?

If you fail one or both parts of the assessment, you must retake whatever part was not completed successfully, and there is a $125.00 fee to retake. If one or both are still not passed after the first retake, then the participant must wait 6 months for the next retake. After three retakes a new registration process is required and both assessments must be undertaken anew, even if one had been passed previously.
